Board and staff captured statistics or observations they found particularly interesting on post-it notes and put them on the walls.

Prince and Hamfeldt helped the group organize the comments and to identify three areas of focus: Accessibility and Convenience, Education and Enrichment, and Community and Connection.

After lunch, participants selected one of the three areas to explore in more detail, brainstorming ideas for activities the Library could undertake.

At the end of the brainstorming sessions, Prince took the group through a visioning exercise.

The meeting was adjourned at 3:51 pm.
